Area Roundup

Sewage Plant Under Fire

ROCKDALE

The Texas Water Quality Board has given the City of Rockdale a May 1 deadline on submitting a firm timetable for completion of a new sewage treat-ment plant. After hearing a report from its staff that Rockdale's present treatment plant is putting poor quality effluent, the board also ordered the city to come up with some assurance that the present plant will "be upgraded to the maximum extent possible" while the new plant is being built. The city was called on the carpet to explain why its sewage treatment problems had not been cleared up despite board pressure since April 1970.

Eight Escape At Gatesville

GATESVILLE

Eight inmates scaled the prison-type fence at the Mountain View School for Boys and made getaways from the state's maximum security institution for chronic young offenders on Monday. Before dawn Tuesday, seven of the runaways had been apprehended. The eighth escapee, a 16-year-old boy from the Dallas area, was still at large.

Connection For Belton, Stillhouse

BELTON

The Bell County Commissioners Court approved a motion to extend Wheat Road to create a short route between Lake Belton and Stillhouse Hollow Reser-voir. The road will join Wheat Road near FM 2278 and the Old Sparta Road. Belton Mayor Clark Potter said that "the road will be a great advantage to Belton as well as Bell County in view of the heavy traffic between Lake Belton and Stillhouse."

Election Fields 9 Candidates

HEARNE

Qualified voters in Hearne will elect a mayor, city attorney and two coun-cilmen on Tuesday. Mayor Jake Abrams and City Atty. Bill Palmos are un-opposed on the ballot. ## Women Turn Down Union At Dress Plant

In an 82 to 48 vote, women at Hensley-Russell garment manufac-turer defeated the idea of joining the International Ladies Garment Workers Union (ILGWU) Thursday morning.

Charles Wickersham, local plant manager, said the vote was taken by a representative of the National Labor Relations Board.

The movement to have the women join the union started about 11 months ago.

Jubilant reignited among the work-ers after result of the voting was an-nounced, and $60 worth of groceries, representing one year's union dues, was raffled off and won by Helen Johnson.

CATTLE, HOG MARKETS ARE LOWER

The cattle and hog markets fell off considerably as shown by prices paid at the livestock auction Thurs-day. Adverse publicity about the price of meat and a nationwide boycott of meat by housewives set for this week are cited as some of the rea-sons for the drop.

According to a report from Cam-eron Livestock Auction, receipts were up from last week with 750 cattle and calves being offered to a moderate demand. The report said the down turn in livestock prices was present at all Texas livestock mark-ets.

Slaughter cows were $3 to $5 lower; feeder heifers and heifer calves were $5 to $8 lower and feed-er steers and steer calves were $5 to $10 lower per hundred weight.

The hog market also was low-er, with barrows and gilts mostly $4 lower and sows $3 to $4 lower than last week.

"There is a lot of uncertainty in the cattle market at this time," Tommy Chamberlain, local meat packer, said. He added that packers are not putting a lot of calves in their plants because they are afraid of getting caught with high price beef in case of a price drop.

Smithsonian Keeps Track Of Strange Happenings On Earth

By William Scally

WASHINGTON

In the autumn of 1969 But-terflies invaded Trinidad, giant snails infested Miami and globules of sticky spider webbing floated across Mis-souri "causing general con-ternation."

The three events were a-mong scores reported to the Smithsonian Institutions center for short-lived phen-omena. Through a network of correspondents through-out the world, the center keeps a watchful eye on strange often inexplicable and some-times catastrophic happen-ings on earth.

A collection of reports made to the center during the first four years of its ex-istence -- 1965 to 1971 -- has been published by the Smithsonian Institution un-der the title "The Pulse of the Planet."

A report on the odd case of the Miami snail plague recounts that giant African snails, introduced to the area several years earlier, had proliferated over 400 acres in the city, devouring any form of green vegeta-ble they could find.

The snails have no na-tural enemies in Florida and reproduce at an alarming rate, the report said, noting that the life span of a snail is about five years and that each snail could produce 400 to 600 offspring a year.

To fight the plague state officials baited the area with poison, killing 17,000 snails by the end of 1969. The re-port warns that the snail population had not been en-tirely eradicated and that "another outbreak or rein-festation of snails remains an annual threat."

No emergency action was apparently required in Trinidad where large swarms of butterflies we-re apparently confused by abnormal weather and hat-ched in great numbers.

The St. Louis spider in-vasion came from an un-usually large number of bal-loon spiders. The females of this species lay their eggs in webs which they weave at the tops of trees, ready to be carried away by the wind.

On the afternoon of Oct. 8 "enormous numbers of eggs wafted across St. Louis," the report stated. "At the height of the invasion, the air over the city was filled with the webs at a density of almost one per square foot."

Other reports that flow-ed in to the center, at Cam-bridge, Mass., were of 71 major volcanic eruptions, 86 major earthquakes, 51 ma-jor oil spills, 40 major fire-ball events, 15 meteorite falls and 137 "ecological events including major ani-mal mortalities, migrations, infestations and population fluctuations, major vegeta-tion mortalities and major pollution event."

From the 300 original cor-respondents recruited by the center, the number has grown to more than 2,500 in 150 countries. The United States has 833, England 121 and Australia 77.

The reports told of the killing of 40 million fish by chemicals in the Rine in 1969. A plague of millions of mice that overran Vic-toria and New South Wales, Australia, in December 1969 and the Bay of Bengal tidal wave the killed half a mil-lion people in November 1970.

A foreward stated that "The Pulse of the Planet may be interpreted "as a frightening record of na-tural disasters, as a chill-ing indictment of human fol-ly and greed, or as the first overview of the earth."

White World Overwhelms Ancient Papago Village

By John L. Carpenter

ARIZONA

Anyone who has difficulty grasping the grievances of the militant Indians who seized Wounded Knee, South Dakota, need only visit this ancient Papago Indian's village, whose people are overwhelmed by a white world they don't understand.

White influences are destroying Indian prestige and authority and driving the tribe members to alcoholism and suicide, according to Dr. Bernard L. Fontana, ethnologist for the Arizona State Museum.

The first modern - times suicide among the Papago tribe occurred in 1955 when a young man in the village of 600 persons killed himself with a rifle.

Ten suicides have occurred since then.

Once they were considered scandalous acts and elicited great tribal gossip, but now they are accepted with little comment, Fontana said.

Alcohol deaths rise annually, police report.

Now, unless police are present, a village dance cannot be held. Murder among the naturally peaceful and nonviolent tribesmen has also increased in the past two decades.

In 1971-72 there were 27 deaths, 16 from unnatural causes, mostly alcohol -- connected; three committed suicide.

"If you don't have people who can make meaningful decision in their own behalf -- then you're wipe out," says Fontana. All the other remedies, mental health groups, alcoholics anonymous, are only stop - gap measures, he said.

Welfare programs and copper mining payments have come to the village but in each case the windfalls came to the Indians "in an indiscriminate, mysterious manner." The Indians had little choice over whether he received these things or not, Fontana said.

In 1957, American Smelting Company paid over one million dollars to certain Papagos who owned mining land.

"When the bonus payments finally began... they fell very unevenly among the Papagos and a few non-Papagos," he said.

"Some people who had worked hard all their lives and who had tried through their own initiative to better their economic circumstances received nothing.

"Others, including some who were alcoholics, inherited large sums of money. Individual payments ranged from 26,000 dollars to four or five dollars."

"The amounts fell randomly and indiscriminately on rich and poor, drunk and sober, respected and disliked, lazy and industrious," Fontana said.

"From that day to this, people living at San Xavier have been persuaded and pressured into signing agreements and passion resolutions, and doing all manner of things which they understand almost not at all.

"They are told if they do such - and - such they will get money. A lot of it. If they don't, they are told they will get nothing.

"The end product is a village which is only barely any longer a community. It is ripped apart internally.

Fontana insists Indians must get back their own leadership, make their own decisions based on their needs and not the needs of copper companies, federal agencies, lawyers, missionaries, anthropologists, social workers, physicians -- or anyone else from outside their communities.

Environment Study New & At University

"The American Environment" -- from physical surroundings to inner life -- will be the concentration of the Comparative Studies Program at The University of Texas for the next two years.

The topic will be explored at three levels: the physical environment; the political, psychological, economic, philosophical and sociological environment, and the individuals, who through creativity and imagination, have created an inner environment.

UT Austin President Stephen H. Spurr, a forest ecologist, is teaching the first course -- a seminar on Wild Land Resource Policy.

Accent on Health

The "hush - hush" disease has come out into the open.

For decades, venereal disease was spoken of in whispers or not spoken of at all because VD was not one of the "socially accepted" diseases. Despite its social unacceptance, VD occurred -- and in great numbers, so great that vast programs were mounted to control and hopefully seek to eliminate the disease as a public health problem in Texas and the nation.

VD had become an epidemic, as literally millions of Americans and thousands of Texans contracted the disease. Health authorities, who had been quietly attacking this public health problem for years, began to focus some of their energies on public awareness -- education and information. They hoped to bring the disease out into the open so it could be treated for what it is -- a serious communicable disease now occurring in epidemic proportions.

Until recently, VD patients were treated by society as social outcasts. The social stigma attached to these diseases prevented people from seeking education about the prevention or treatment of VD. Thus, the chain of transmission was almost impossible to break, for many individuals were unaware of the symptoms and dangers of VD. For every case brought to the attention of health authorities, four more cases were occurring but not brought to treatment.

Now, the tide may have begun to turn. The Texas State Department of Health reported a 27 percent decrease in the occurrence of infectious syphilis statewide in 1972. Gonorrhea showed a 14 percent increase. To combat this continued increase, a massive new gonorrhea screening program was launched by the State Health Department just last year. Still, gonorrhea is striking four new victims in Texas every minute.

As part of their efforts to bring the untreated, previously undiagnosed, or asymptomatic cases of syphilis and gonorrhea to treatment, state health authorities have launched a "VD Awareness Campaign" aimed at reaching the target population and educating the general public.

Hopefully, such an effort will motivate individuals who think they may have been exposed to VD to contact their private physician or local Public Health Department clinic for early diagnosis and treatment. The educational aspects of the campaign will try to bring the disease "out of the woods" and into the realm of present day reality.

Kids Credit Stork

LONDON The stork is still responsible for bringing babies into the world in the minds of many British schoolchildren.

The overworked ornithological myth still dominates their ideas, despite recent sex education drives, according to school counselor Jill Kenner.

A survey of where children believe they come from also includes the old gooseberry bush -- as well as a new twist to the story of the birds and the bees.

Just what children are told by some parents who try to dodge giving them the facts of life are included in a new sex education paper-back, "Goodbye to the Stork," written by Miss Kenner and published by the National Marriage Guidance Council.

Ten and 11 year old children told Miss Kenner:

"I was baked in an oven" and that babies baked too long are black.

"I was found in a car park."

"I came with the laundry."

Another small girl told the story of the birds and the bees -- and thought afterwards that if a bee stung her she would have a baby.

Also included in the book are the reactions of children to sex education in school.

One knowledgeable youngster said he liked to talk to his parents about sex.

"My mother has actually had a baby and knows a lot about it," he said with understanding.

Another child quite clearly had no intention of discussing his newly-acquired knowledge with mom and dad: "At home you might get a clip over the ear."

But the verdict of one 10-year-old, when told about sex and babies, might encourage parents and teachers: "It was all very joyful. I liked the talks because they took the dirty words out of my mind. You feel better when you know. It was the truth."

By Marilyn Hauk

The Cameron Yoemen placed third in the Belton Relays Saturday following Rockdale and Belton. They totaled 97 points.

Willy Bell came in first in the broad jump with 20-8 1/4.

The team of Rosemond, Thweatt, Pinkston and Bell sped to a 44.5 first-place spot in the 440 relay.

In the 440 yard dash George Whiteside placed second. Cameron placed fifth in the Mile Medley Relay. Gary Thweatt came in second in the 100-yard dash followed by Stanley Rosemond who took the third spot. Young came in sixth.

In the 220-yd dash Bell came in third followed by Rosemond who was fourth. Pedro Canizales took the first place position in the mile run with a 4:43.6. Antonio Canizales placed fourth and Rangell was fifth.

The Yoemen came in third in the mile relay.

Texas Tops Other States With Roadside Parks

AUSTIN

Almost one of every seven roadside parks and safety rest areas along highways in the United States is located in Texas.

A U.S. Department of Transportation survey of 7,572 roadside park facilities in the nation shows that 1,059 are along the Texas Highway system.

The State with the next largest number of rest areas is Tennessee with 366 sites.

Texas leads the other states in the number of "super" safety rest areas found along Interstate highways. There were 111 safety rest areas counted in the inventory last year from a nationwide total of 1,175.

The sheer size of Texas and the State - maintained highway system -- more than 70 thousand miles -- have a lot to do with Texas' leadership in the rest area field.

More to the point is the fact that Texas was the first State to build roadside parks, starting back in the early 1930s.

Today's modern safety rest areas on Interstate and some major US - numbered highways include comfort stations, drinking water, information displays, sewage dumping stations for recreational vehicles as well as the familiar picnic arbor units.

They are a far cry from the first roadside parks built in the early '30s, which included only a few simple tables arranged under a welcoming tree.

Texas first roadside park is in use still, duly marked as the first of its kind with a historical marker. It is located on State Highway 71 in Fayette County, near the community of West Point.

The program started almost by accident. Years later, the late Gibb Gilchrist, who was State Highway Engineer at the time, recalled:

"Texas was undoubtedly the first state in the United States to build roadside parks. A chap named William Pape, Sr., was county foreman on a road near Smithville where there were some beautiful live oak trees along a creek.

"He built some tables and benches and things of that kind that would cause people to stop. I found out about it and determined that I either had to fire him or join him. So we joined him and everybody on the Highway Commission and Judge Ely (W.R. Ely of Abilene) in particular pushed along the idea until all engineers became advocates."

Good Records Are Needed For Returns

Taxpayers must keep good records of the support they provide for dependents not living with them, A. P. Andrews, Administrative Officer of Internal Revenue in Temple, said today.

Failure to keep good records can cause some taxpayers to lose a dependency exemption they otherwise would be entitled to. For others it means the problem of assembling the needed records months after the expense was paid.

Of the five tests that have to be met to satisfy the legal requirements for "claiming another person as a dependent, the one that gives taxpayers the most trouble is the support test.

To satisfy the support test, the taxpayer must show what it cost to support the dependent for the year and how much of this he provided. To gather such records for a child who does not live at home or a parent or another relative in another city is naturally more difficult than it is for a dependent who lives with the taxpayer.

Close relatives including a child, grandchild, brother, sister, parent, grandparent, aunts, and uncles do not have to live with the taxpayer to qualify as a dependent.

Additional information can be obtained by contacting any IRS office and asking for a free copy of Publication No. 501, "Your Exemptions and Exemptions for Dependents."

Rutherford Set For Speedway

COLLEGE STATION

One of the best liked drivers on the USAC National Championship Trail, soft-spoken Johnny Rutherford appears ready to make a big move toward the top.

The handsome Fort Worth driver plans to start the 1973 season in "winning style" with a victory in the National Championship event at Texas World Speedway on Saturday, April 7.

Johnny finished seventh in the 1972 Championship standings with a whirlwind finish that saw him gain points in all of the last five races on the Trail after having gone pointless in the first five.

The 35-year-old charger, who started racing midgets in the Dallas area in 1959, startled railbirds at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway in 1970 when he turned in a qualifying speed just 8/1000ths mile - per - hour off the pole - position pace of Al Unser, ultimate winner of that race. Rutherford also made the front row for the inaugural California 500 at Ontario Motor Speedway.

He scored his first and only Championship victory in the Atlanta 250 during 1965, the same year that he won the USAC Sprint Championship.

Yoe Scores 5-3 Victory Over R-L

By Marilyn Hauk

The Yoemen gained a 3-0 lead on Rosebud-Lott Tuesday night in the second inning and held that lead throughout the game finally winning 5-3.

A home-run by Rodrigues made by errors on Yoe's part, in the bottom of the seventh inning showed promise for Rosebud-Lott, but their hopes of winning were shattered by three consecutive outs.

Scoring for the Yoemen were Craig Friemal, Joe Trdy, Rickey Sapp, Gary Thweatt, and Pat Scheguit.

John Barron, who struck out 11 men, was winning pitcher. Rodrigues was losing pitcher.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q - I saw a story in the paper giving the average deductions taken by U. S. taxpayers last year. If I keep my deductions below these figures, will it keep me from being audited?

A - No. IRS computers screen all individual returns for error, not just those with higher than average deduction figures. Sophisticated mathematical formulas are used to rank returns by error potential and those having the highest probability of error are selected for audit.

If a deduction on your return is questioned, you must be able to substantiate the item.

Q - When should I report interest earned on my Series E Savings Bonds?

A - You should report interest when the bonds are cashed or report the annual increase each year.

For more information, see IRS Publication 576, "Tax Information on United States Savings Bonds." It's available free by contacting your local IRS office.

Q - I earned over $25,000 last year. Can I still use the short Form 1040A?

A - Yes. You can earn any amount and still use the short Form 1040A. However, all your income must come from wages, salaries, tips and not more than $200 in interest and $200 in dividends. In addition, you may not itemize deductions on the short form.

If you did not receive Form 1040A in the mail and want to use it, a copy may be obtained at any Internal Revenue office, most banks and post offices, or you may use the order blank in the Form 1040 package to obtain a copy.

Q - What transportation expenses are deductible?

A - You may deduct as a charitable contribution unreimbursed out-of-pocket transportation expenses directly attributable to services you render to a charitable organization. If you use your own car, you may use the rate of six cents per mile instead of actual expenses to determine your deductions. Parking fees and tolls are deductible in addition to the six cents per mile.

Transportation expenses necessary to get medical care are also deductible in the same way. However, these expenses are subject to the three percent rule for medical expenses.

Transporation expenses in connection with your job, employee education and moving may also be deductible. Details can be found in three booklets: IRS Publication 508, "Tax Information on Educational Expenses"; Publication 521, "Tax Information on Moving Expenses"; and Publication 463, "Travel, Entertainment and Gift Expenses."

They're available free by contacting your local IRS office. Remember, you can deduct business related transportation expenses, even if you do not itemize deductions on your return.

Q - My husband and I file a joint return. He wants to designate a dollar of our tax for one political party, while I want my dollar to go to another party. Can we do this?

A - Yes. If you are filing a joint return, you may designate $2 of your tax toward the Presidential Election Campaign Fund. Thus, each of you may designate $1 of your tax to go to a different party or to a non-partisan general account for all eligible candidates.

No change has been made in feed grain program payments as a result of the lowering of feed grain set-aside from an acreage equal to 25 percent of a farm's base to 10 percent, reports John Barry Rudd, State Farm Program official.

The set-aside acreage reduction is automatic, he said, and producers have no added paperwork and no required visits to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) County Office.

"The only change is that the set-aside requirement for producers who enrolled under the 25 percent set-aside plan has been reduced to 10 percent," said ASCS State Committee Chairman Rudd.

"Those producers will be notified by the ASCS County Offices of the change for their farm. If they already had their set-aside land inspected and measured, it can be remeasured at their request at no additional cost."

"I want to emphasize that payments for all participants in the feed grain program are unchanged - whether they signed under what was the 25 percent set-aside plan or under the zero set-aside plan," Rudd said.

He pointed out that payments are calculated on half the feed grain base times farm yield payment rate.

However, those feed grain producers who signed up to set aside acreage are required to set aside 10 percent of their feed grain base and maintain their conserving base in order to qualify for payment. On their remaining cropland acreage they are free to plant any crop they choose, except quota crops which are peanuts, rice, extra long staple cotton, and tobacco.

Those producers who signed up for the zero set-aside plan agreed to accept a reduced payment in order to have all of their cropland except their conserving base free for planting. They also agreed to limit their feed grain plantings to no more than their 1972 production.

"None of this is change," the ASCS Committee Chairman said, adding that producers cannot switch from the set-aside they signed up for.

He also said there is no change in the provision which allows haying and grazing on set-aside acreage, with a reduction in payment. The per-acre payment reductions for haying and grazing set-aside land and for alternate crops remain as previously announced.

"The lowering of required set-aside acreage probably was the least disruptive action that could be made in the 1973 Feed Grain Program. And action was required to free up more acreage for planting and livestock use."

"Study of the March 1 planting intentions report showed that not enough corn could be planted - and barely enough soybeans - to provide for anticipated demand and adequate carry-over."

"Action was necessary in order to prevent or alleviate a shortage in the supply of agricultural commodities. Set-aside acreage was the only land which could be readily released for crops," Rudd said.

Reduction of the feed grain set-aside is expected to return from 3.8 to 6 million acres back to major crops, such as corn, grain sorghum, barley, and soybeans. The added corn acreage is expected to total between 2-1/2 to 3 1/2 million acres. Other acres of released set-aside land may be used for livestock forage.

Based on the latest enrollment report, the action taken will release approximately 930,000 acres from set-aside designation in Texas.
